

A Word to the People.

Having had the pleasure of talking to a great number of the citizens of the 3d Judicial district within the last three months, with reference to the great wave of crime, and especially the illegal manufacture of liquor, I want to urge a few things upon you as citizens.

I want to remind you that the various neighborhoods of the county are responsible, in a great measure, for the sale of whiskey. I have had a number of citizens of localities to give me the names of the witnesses as to law-violations and in the next breath insist that I withhold their names. Before we will be able to properly enforce the law the good citizens will have to take their stand in the open and say what they intend to do about the infractions of the law. Without the solid support of the citizens the law enforcement will be greatly crippled.

There is a great deal of criticism of the officers and the way they hold courts. Is all this criticism just, and do the citizens who refuse to aid in law enforcement have the right to criticize?

I have been your Commonwealth's Attorney for four and a half years and have tried to discharge my duty as best I could under the disadvantages the Commonwealth is compelled to work. The Court has at all times tried to select three good jury commissioners to pick good men for the juries, yet in far too many cases the juries bring in verdicts for the lowest penalties. The jurors frequently forget that they are a part of the court and a very important part and that without their doing their full duty it is impossible to lessen crime. In cases of homicide or the graver crimes the defense has fifteen challenges and the Commonwealth but five. Frequently the only ones interested in the prosecution are the widow and orphans of the deceased. You will see politicians dock to the defense and every art known to politics exerted to secure an acquittal regardless the nature of the crime of the perpetrator. Let a crime be committed and there is immediately started a propaganda by the defense to create the impression that it can be justified. In cases where it can be done bribery is resorted to to secure an acquittal.

To secure a proper enforcement of the law the good citizens must be willing to furnish whatever information they can, and good citizens must cease to evade jury duty. Men must be willing to serve as jurors who will bring in verdicts commensurate to the crime committed. The extreme penalties must be exacted if crime is stopped.

I am anxious to rid our district of law violations and if the good citizens will mail me the list of names of witnesses who know of violations I will see that they are summoned and appear before the grand jury, and when the cases come to trial I will do my utmost to convict the guilty. In all compromises I have made it has been in order to secure a higher penalty than the juries had been fixing, and if I can secure the active co-operation of the good people I will try to bring the violations of the law to an end. I need and expect the aid of every good citizen who is in favor of law enforcement.

Yours truly,
FLOYD ARNETT.

W. C. Black Here.

W. C. Black, of Hazle, candidate for justice of the peace from district three was in town Saturday and called at the Corrier office. Mr. Black was very sanguine of his success at the primary. Mr. Black is a good business man, and very aggressive and would make a splendid magistrate. He is fearless and active and would not hesitate in the running up of the lawless. As a member of the Elson court he would be valuable as a dancer and would help to look after the county's finances properly. He is progressive and would stand for the development of the county and for goodroads for all parts of the county.

Mr. Black is working up on the Kentucky river for the present and can not be home for some time and he wants his friends to push his campaign actively till later when he will be here in person. The helvees in advertising and from time to time tell the voters what he stands for through the columns of the Corrier and he asks now that the voters of the district keep in mind that he is in earnest about his race and that he has been assured by many of the voters in the district that his success is almost certain. He urges his friends to keep his candidacy prominently before the people and to remember that he will be with them later in the campaign.—Adv.

Elam States his Views of Free Text Books.

I have been asked by a number of people how I stood on the free book question, or of furnishing free to the children of the State their school books. There are two sides to the proposition. First, I will say that if the books could be printed by the State by prison labor, or in such a way as not to add to the already burdensome taxes I would favor it. But if it had to be done by piling up more taxes on the people I would oppose it, because I think that we are taxed too much as it is.

In next issue of the Corrier I will give a thorough discussion of the proposition of the text book question as well as the question of public printing.

Respectfully,
T. J. ELAM.

Withdraws from Clerk's Race.

Elamton, Ky., June 20, 1921. To the Democrats of Morgan county: Sometime since I announced as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of County Clerk. Since that time my health is not good and I feel that I could not make the canvass or stand the confinement of the office. I believe that I could have won the race, but due regard for my health decided me to withdraw.

In quitting the race I desire to thank sincerely my friends for their proffered support and to assure them that in the future I stand ready to repay them in any way that I can.

In withdrawing from the race I leave my friends who have pledged me their support free to vote as they choose in the race, as I am no longer concerned in it except to vote.

Again thanking you for your assurance of support and wishing the Democratic party success always, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
ALONZO PELFREY.

Vote for T. J. Elam.

Mr. John Stamper and Miss Fern Cottle were married at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. R. M. Horstman, at Jackson, Sunday morning June 19, at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. J. C. Hainey performing the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a suit of blue tulle and a corsage of bride's roses. The ring ceremony was performed. The happy young couple left on the 9:00 o'clock train for a ten day tour to Cincinnati and other points north.

The groom is 22 years old, son of the late Wm. Stamper, of Copeland, and is the bookkeeper for the Jones-Calm Coal Co., and is a young man of splendid character and fine business attainments. He is very popular and well liked by the people of Jackson.

The bride is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of J. M. Cottle, of West Liberty, and has been for several years telephone operator at Jackson. She is 20 years old and one of the most lovable girls of West Liberty.

No girl in West Liberty had more friends or was more highly respected than Fern Cottle; and her friends here will heartily join with her and her husband a long life of happiness and prosperity.

Vote for T. J. Elam for Representative.

Coffee's Reply.

West Liberty, Ky., June 20, 1921. Mr. J. H. Williams, Forest, Ky.

Your letter to me in the Corrier was received with as much glee as the first letter of a young girl from her sweetheart. But it kinda puzzles me why you did not mail the letter to me instead of sending it to the newspaper.

John Henry, it was a crack-jack letter and I guess the reason why you wanted it published was to let the people see what a jim-dandy letter writer you are. Still I am tickled at most to death to get the letter even if I do have to share its sweetness with two thousand other people.

In taking my pen in hand to reply to your tender epistle I am at a loss to know just what to say. While your letter is sweet and affectionate it contains little that merits a reply. Still having written me this letter I suppose that you expect a reply, and I will try to gratify you, that your superiority makes me rather timid in the matter and I know that I am no match for you in a contest of letter writing. Knowing as I do, especially from your own admissions, that you can do any thing just a little better than any one else, I can only be a fool to cumber you to show what a brilliant fellow you are. However, if you still insist on a correspondence with me I will try to lighten up my vocabulary.

Consult with Emerson, Bacon, Shakespeare, Byron, Keats, Lowell, Longfellow, Carlyle, and a few more leading thinkers, and maybe by combining all their wisdom I may be able to write letters—not equal to yours, of course, but readable—so that you will not be bored by my feeble efforts to answer your scintillating and scholarly epistles. Not having had the advantage of an intimate acquaintance with you I have only your word that you can beat Demosthenes to death in statesmanship, but envy in the heart of Choate over your legal learning, back Witterson off the boards when it comes to writing, and in fact teach the most learned much in their chosen lines. I envy you, truly, for the learning that has made you superior to most men, for, by your own admission, you are the greatest man that ever went down the pike.

I have only to call attention to the people that the records bear out my statements in regard to what I have done and they are open to every one. Affectionately yours,
J. W. COFFEY.

Greer, Ky., June 22, 1921.

To the voters of Morgan county:

Having made my announcement some time ago to run for the office of Justice of the county and thinking at that time I would run but many things have occurred that have changed the situation, so I decided to quit this race clean handed. But I wish to say that I will be candidate for this office four years from now, and I thank my many friends that have proffered me their support in this race had I stayed in it to the finish, and will say that I hope that they may see fit to give me their support four years hence.

So again thanking you for promised patronage I beg to remain,
Sincerely yours,
I. P. TAYLOR.

A Delightful Party.

An enjoyable party was given at the residence of Judge and Mrs. J. H. Sebastian Monday night in honor of the return of their son, Walter. Music and dancing was had and all report a very delightful time. Walter brought his saxophone and entertained the guests with some selections. Those present were: Misses Mazie and Eva Sparlock, Elsie Arnett, Emma Sparlock, Evelyn Swango, Martha Oakley, Elizabeth Pieratt, Mrs. C. M. Sierver, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ellington, Messrs. Olen and Fred Oakley, Ollie Henry, Gardner Sparlock, H. B. Rankin, Everett Nickell and A. Young Hovemarle.

Cute Crops for Hay

(By R. B. Rankin, County Agent.) As a result of continued drought this spring, both hay and oats in Morgan county will yield lighter than usual, a shortage of roughage this winter unless they sow catch crops for hay.

Some of the crops which may be sown to be cut for hay are: (1) cowpeas, (2) millet, and (3) Sudan grass. A mixture of cowpeas and millet also makes a palatable hay. If sown by the first of July, any of these crops will reach the stage for cutting before frost comes. If sown much later than the first of July, the frost is likely to catch them, and they are more difficult to cure when the days become cool in the fall.

Cowpeas should be sown broadcast at the rate of one bushel per acre. The yield can be greatly increased by broadcasting acid phosphate at the time of seeding at the rate of 200 to 300 pounds per acre. The Whippoorwill, Groat and New Era are all good varieties to use. Cowpeas require about three months after seeding to ripen, and should be cut for hay as soon as the first fourth of the pods are ripe. They are cured in the same way as other hay and are not hard on the soil, as is millet.

Many farmers in Morgan county are familiar with millet. It is hard on land and its use can only be advocated when, as in the present emergency, the regular hay crop has failed and some catch crop must be resorted to. It should be seeded at the rate of two or three pecks per acre, and on the average Morgan county soil should be fertilized in the same manner as suggested for cowpeas. In 60 to 75 days after seeding millet is ready to cut for hay, and should be cut before more than half the heads have come out of the "boots." If left standing longer, the hay will be tough and woody, and stock will not eat it well. Millet is easily cured, but its quality is only fair.

Sudan grass is some what akin to millet, but makes greater yields per acre and gives a hay which is of much better quality than millet. It is sown broadcast, and requires 20 to 30 pounds of seed to the acre. Within about three months after seeding it is ready for cutting, and should be cut as soon as it blooms. It is cured and handled in the same way as millet and makes a hay well liked by stock. Like millet, however, it is hard on the land, and should only be used as a catch crop.

All catch crops should be seeded on soil which has been well prepared by turning, disking and dragging or rotting to thoroughly pulverize all clods. If the weather is not too dry, wheat land may be turned as soon as the wheat is cut and sown at once, provided that the sowing may be finished near the first of July.

To the Voters.

Owing to the illness of my wife I have been kept at home for several days and have not had the chance to visit you in your homes. However, I hope to get out again in a few days. In the meantime I appeal to the women of the county to work for my success and to stand by me in my efforts to suppress lawlessness. I have never failed to attend a magistrate's court when notified, and I am trying to suppress all manner of crime. If elected I promise to keep up the fight against the sale of liquor and to try to stamp it out.

I hope to see you all before the primary and ask that you work for my success during the time I am compelled to be at home.

Yours very truly,
JOHN W. COFFEY.

July Potatoes.

The long drought during May and June has seriously injured the spring potato crop in Morgan county, and many families are actually faced with a shortage of potatoes during the coming winter. There is still time, however, to secure seed of some variety of July potatoes, and they may be planted as late as the middle of July.

The ground in which the potatoes are to be planted should be plowed as soon as possible and worked down into a well-pulverized seed bed. Where spring potatoes are very early, they may be dug in time to work over the ground and plant late potatoes where they have stood. When early potatoes are dug so soon after maturity they should be stored in a cool cellar, else they are not likely to keep well. At planting time the late potatoes should be fertilized in the row with acid phosphate fertilizer. The cultivation necessary is the same as for early varieties.

July potatoes are allowed to remain in the ground until the frost has killed the vines, because as long as the vines are green, the potatoes are growing. Usually they produce somewhat more than the spring varieties, because rains in the fall are much more certain at the time that the tuber is formed than they are in the spring. July potatoes keep somewhat better than the spring varieties.

Many Fail in Exams.

Three of the thirty-three applicants for certificates in the May examination obtained certificates, all being second class. Most of the applicants took the June examination. Those who obtained certificates were Mrs. Stacey, Miss Nora Howard and Arch Lacy.

Maude Muller—let me put you wise—
Was raking hay to "advertise."
To the rich old Judge she would sell her stunning charms, this rural belle And when the Judge came riding by, He boldly winked his near side eye. Maude's eyes were dropped, oh he, oh fudge!
She missed the wink—and lost the Judge!

At a recent big fire at Middlesboro a bystander was heard to anxiously wish for the presence of President Harding. When asked why he wanted Mr. Harding he replied: "To stop the fire." "But he couldn't stop the fire," said the questioner. "I don't see why," said the one who had wished for the President, "the man who can stop all of the business of the country ought to be able to stop a small fire like that."

WASTED ENERGY.

What looks to the Courier as wasted energy wasted is the nomination by the Republican County Committee of a candidate for State Senator and a partial county ticket. There is no more hope of electing them than there is of securing immediate peace in Russia or Lodge's endorsement of the League of Nations.

There is no possible chance of giving Senator Whiteaker serious opposition and he will be overwhelmingly elected, and the most that the opposition to the county ticket can amount to will be to make the Democrats a bit more careful in their nominations.

ANOTHER FORD EXPERIMENT.

Henry Ford has announced that he will run the D. T. & I. railroad, from Detroit to Ironton, which he recently purchased, with eight hour labor shifts. The old-timers, as usual when judging new methods, are predicting dire failure. But they did that same thing when Mr. Ford announced the standardization of the Ford automobile, and Henry won out. It may be that the reason freight rates are so high and railroads are losing money (according to their claim), is that they have not used proper business methods. If Mr. Ford can demonstrate that a railroad can be conducted profitably and rates lowered by paying good wages and on eight hour shifts it will prove what many have contended—that the railroads were profiteering and charging too much.

THAT BLAIR PARDON.

The pardon of a notorious crook, Frank Blair, by Governor Morrow, when it was noted of record in at least two places on the prison books, that the United States Government and State authorities wanted him for various crimes, can not be passed with the explanation of Governor Morrow that he made a mistake. Governor Morrow made his campaign upon the issue that he would investigate every case before granting a pardon, and in his instance he did not make any investigation. It was a matter of record at the prison that Blair was wanted at the expiration of his sentence, and the activities of Galvin and other prominent leaders in getting him out of the State beyond the reach of the Federal authorities made it look as though there was something more than just a mistake. These activities by a Republican State Committeeman and other prominent Republican politicians will need a lot of explaining.

Murvin, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lacy, is very sick at this writing. We hope however this little boy will soon recover.

Jasper Jones, who has been with a drifter's crew in Elliott county for some time, is visiting home folk this week.

George Finch and Misses Carrie May and Mary McCarty went to Caney Sunday and each one reports a splendid time.

Misses Cynda Hayes, Magdelene Wheeler and Addie Blankenship, of Caney City, were visiting here Sunday. We are always glad to have these girls among us and hope they will visit us again soon.

Mrs. Courtney Hammond, of Hazard, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bailey, this week.

Messrs. Alvin Gilly and Arnold Ward of Maytown, and Marvin Rice, of Daysboro, were very pleasant visitors here Sunday. There seems to be some attraction here for these young men. However we are glad to have them visit this place.

Mrs. Ellie Lacy and daughter, Tennie, are visiting Mrs. Lacy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McClure, of Grassy creek, this week.

Mrs. Chester Barnett, of Netty, who has been sick for some time, left this morning for the Rich hospital at Jackson. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

DINGUS

Louzy, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Holbrook, and Miss Akhn Ballin, daughter of Henry Bolin, (deceased), were united in marriage last Wednesday. It is estimated that fully 600 people attended church at Jephtha, the second Sunday in June. A free excursion from Lenox on the train, and our great country. It looks as though if this growing evil is not checked, that it will deter the progress and development of our people beyond measure. It hunts for the vulnerable or weak places of those who use them. The mind, the heart, the lungs, in fact the whole man is more or less overborne as it welds its clutches over the lives of the unfortunate users, thus rendering the individual unfit for the concrete problems that loom up in our business and social life from day to day. Let's hope for this end, and then we can truthfully say that the zenith of our glory has not yet reached.

Mrs. Susan Bailey took suddenly ill one day last week while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Farish Hamilton, of Elumton. It thought that she has fever.

J. W. Pelfrey, of Elumton, was here Monday to see his mother, Mrs. Cynthia Ferguson, who is not expected to live.

Mrs. Joseph Bolin has recovered from a severe spell of fever and has been moved to her father's Willie Lykin's place, near Matthew.

Mrs. Amanda Hamilton and Misses Bessie and Essie Ferguson visited relatives at Relief the week end.

Martha Pelfrey, of Jephtha, was called to Lexington, last week to be examined. He will probably try for a pension.

Cuts a Clean Swath

Here's a mower you can depend upon to go through your heaviest hay, and do a clean job of cutting. It does the kind of work you are proud of. And you can keep it in good cutting order for years to come.

JOHN DEERE DAIN MOWER

By simple nut adjustments that can be made in the field with an ordinary wrench, all the lag in the cutter can be taken out and the knife can be re-centered.

We are positive that the John Deere Dain transmits more power to the knife than any other mower built. The simple arrangement of the gears prevents end thrust and side wear on the bearing and gears, which means a minimum loss of power.

The John Deere Dain is mighty well built. The bearings are large. Extra strength is provided where the strain comes. Every machine is thoroughly inspected and tested before you get it. You take no chances of getting a poor machine.

There are a number of other good features on the John Deere Dain that we want to show you. We have a machine set up ready for your inspection.

(This letter reached us late, and as we have given the account of the Ell county killing in another letter we omit it from this.—Editor.)

On the 8th inst. Volney, the three-year old son of Albert and Pearl Bull, had a severe case of poisoning from strychnine. He got hold of a vital containing a few tablets, that had evidently been left in his reach and, before his mother discovered what he was doing, had swallowed all except one. In a short time he began to have convulsions but luckily vomiting was produced and he soon began to recover. He is now alright.

Troy Isom, 19 years old son of James Isom (deceased) and Belle Isom (now O'Neil) was instantly killed on the 8th inst. while working in timber in West Virginia by a falling limb.

The remains were brought back by Frank Isom, his brother, and Marion Stuss, who were with him, and buried by the side of his father's grave in the family cemetery on the 11th.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Henry Roseberry, of Crockett, and much sympathy was shown the mother and brothers, of the deceased.

Mrs. Fiedt Keeton, of this place, has been seriously ill with cholera morbus the past week, but is better now.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, gives out the following statement:

"Another reduction has been made in the price on all types of Ford cars and the Ford trucks to take effect immediately. The list prices, f. o. b. Detroit, are now as follows:

TOURING CAR	$415.00
RUNABOUT	370.00
COUPE	695.00
SEDAN	760.00
CHASSIS	345.00
TRUCK-CHASSIS	495.00
TRACTOR	625.00

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another reduction possible immediately.

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars and trucks than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited, not by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities.

"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4,000 car daily schedule for June.

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor."

Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck, or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just 'phone us or drop us a card.
